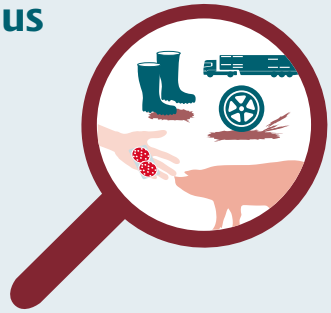
DANISH
INFECTION PROTECTION RULES

Safeguarding the introduction of serious infectious diseases such as swine fever and foot-and-mouth disease is essential to prevent disease outbreaks with serious economic consequences for Danish agriculture.



THE FOLLOWING 3 MAIN RULES ARE APPLICABLE
prior to entering the herd upon arrival from abroad:

1.
24-hour quarantine beginning upon crossing the Danish border until the herd area may be entered

2.
Prior to accessing the herd area, clothing and shoes must be changed, and a shower must be taken 3.

Food, hunting trophies and live animals carried along from abroad must NOT enter the herd area

Exceptions to main rule no. 1:

Upon arrival from LOW RISK AREAS

- 12-hour quarantine beginning upon crossing the Danish border until the herd area may be entered.
- If the herd-owner has any in-depth knowledge* of people having arrived, there will be a 12-hour quarantine from the time when the herd abroad has been left until the herd area may be entered.

Upon arrival from HIGH RISK AREAS

- If the herd-owner has any in-depth knowledge* of people having arrived, there will be a 24-hour quarantine from the time when the herd abroad has been left until the herd area may be entered.

Upon arrival from abroad, WITHOUT having had contact with cloven-footed animals

- No quarantine, if there is a in-depth knowledge* of the persons
